

The Pilot

He has been there all along with an unseen hand, a strong and guiding force through uncharted lands.

When still water turns to rapids and darkness falls your way,

He moves you through the storm into the light of day.

The Pilot knows the danger of each bump that's in the road,

Just follow where we leads you, let him bear your load.

His hands are steady on the wheel, his eyes are open wide, place your hand right next to his, stand closely by his side.

The Pilot sees the future, each challenge you will face,
and gives you peace and comfort and his abundant grace.

So when your path is foggy or the way seems so unclear, you're not without The Pilot if you don't know where to steer.

REMEMBER
