

Eric and Jessica

December 31st 2019

A daughter leaves her family to stand by another's side, forsaking all before him, she will become his bride.

A son will leave his family for he must prepare some room for a woman that said yes to him and he'll become her groom.

Now they stand before you, all their family and their friends, vows spoken to each other, their love shall have no end.

*The scriptures speak of love, if you know where to look,
it's patient, kind and trusting, it's right there in His book.*

*The journey now begins, side by side and hand in hand,
there will be a celebration, soon toes will be in sand.*

The journey will have highs and lows, tests and trials come but you'll face it all together because two became as one.

*May each sunrise give you hope as each day begins aglow and each sunset give you strength as love just grows and grows.
May your lives be filled with joy, with laughter and good cheer, we raise our glasses to you as you start a brand New Year!*
